

Autism Application and Agreement

STEP ONE: Please fill out all forms, questionnaires and charts.

RFI recognizes that demand for autism service dogs is high and availability is limited. Unfortunately due to the demand, RFI must qualify applicant, please apply as early as possible. RFI aims to place dogs for individuals between the ages of 5-11. Individuals can apply for a Autism Service Dog between the ages of 4-11. Individuals under the age of 5 will not begin training until after the child's 5th birthday.

As a 501c3 non-profit organization RFI does not require any cost for receiving a service dog, thus our production is directly related to the contributions that have been received. With the permission of each accepted applicant, RFI can build a recipient donor page. This will have a goal of $7500 and be placed on the RFI website as a way to encourage donations to the organization. RFI appreciates any involvement in achieving this goal, but does not deny or place dogs according to the amount raised. Many contributions are given to RFI through this platform, and are all placed within RFI's general program services contributions account. Donations are not specifically allocated to any specific recipient or do they constitute a purchase of a dog.

Often the expectation of the parent of a child with autism seeking a service dog is that the service dog will perform immediate miracles, and being a uniquely trained dog means the dog is fundamentally different than other dogs, a sort of "robot" dog that responds the instant you give a command; never makes a mistake; never sulks or barks, and never has an off day. Highly trained dogs are still dogs that have basic needs that must be met to be well-balanced and perform consistently. A well balanced dog is calm, friendly, and content. To a great extent a dog's mood, performance and quality of companionship depends on his/her environment, the amount of exercise, discipline and affection given by the new owner.

Due to our client age guidelines, Retrieving Freedom does not place Autism successor Service Dogs. In rare cases in which an Autism Service Dog needs to be replaced, RFI will work with the accepted families to determine if a replacement is necessary. In cases in which accepted RFI clients are looking for a successor dog for their child who has aged out of our client age guidelines, RFI will refer all clients to Assistance Dogs International and assist where needed.

I understand and accept the responsibility, financial investment, and care required of owning a (service) dog. All family members will respect the basic needs of the dog for proper diet, shelter, veterinary care, exercise, attention, and rest. If, at any time, I, or members of my immediate family, cannot meet the requirements of proper care, I understand the service dog is to be returned to Retrieving Freedom, Inc. I further agree to follow RFI instruction regarding any required reading, training, orientation classes and the transition and integration process of the service dog into our home.

1) Diagnosis requirement

- a. A DSMV official diagnosis of Autism or PDDNOS obtain from a credible psychiatrist trained in diagnosing Autism spectrum disorders
- b. A functional assessment from that same provider that suggest the candidate can meet the level of physical and mental functioning to benefit from a service dog

Provide statements of child's condition, difficulties, and needs from extended family members, one of the child's current service providers, associates or friends of the family, teacher or school official. A minimum of 3 concise statements from three different sources describing the child's major disabilities are required. One of which must come from the school that the child attends or will be attending.

We understand that contributions are not payment for a service dog, nor a guarantee our child will receive a service dog. While contributions may be given to RFI in the direction of a particular child, we understand those funds do not constitute a purchase. All the funds donated to the RFI organization are used to the best purpose determined by the Board of Directors.

If at any time during training, the transitional phase or tether training, a RFI representative determines the caregiver, caregiver's partner or family is unsuitable to continue placement of a (service) dog, RFI may exercise its right as stated above to withdraw the service dog without monetary reimbursement to any party.

We understand that due to the increase in cases nationwide that the demand for service dogs for children with Autism far outweighs the supply. Not everyone that applies will be able to receive a service dog, and RFI will place dogs to the best of their ability with the applicants that show the greatest need of a trained service dog.

A Summary of Your Rights Under the Fair Credit Reporting Act

The federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) promotes the accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of consumer reporting agencies. There are many types of consumer reporting agencies, including credit bureaus and specialty agencies (such as agencies that sell information about check writing histories, medical records, and rental history records). Here is a summary of your major rights under FCRA. For more information, including information about additional rights, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore or write to: Consumer Financial Protection Bureau, 1700 G Street N.W., Washington, DC 20552.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses a credit report or another type of consumer report to deny your application for credit, insurance, or employment – or to take another adverse action against you – must tell you, and must give you the name, address, and phone number of the agency that provided the information.
- You have the right to know what is in your file. You may request and obtain all the information about you in the files of a consumer reporting agency (your “file disclosure”). You will be required to provide proper identification, which may include your Social Security number. In many cases, the disclosure will be free. You are entitled to a free file disclosure if:
 - a person has taken adverse action against you because of information in your credit report;
 - you are the victim of identity theft and place a fraud alert in your file;
 - your file contains inaccurate information as a result of fraud;
 - you are on public assistance;
 - you are unemployed but expect to apply for employment within 60 days.

In addition, all consumers are entitled to one free disclosure every 12 months upon request from each nationwide credit bureau and from nationwide specialty consumer reporting agencies. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for additional information.

- You have the right to ask for a credit score. Credit scores are numerical summaries of your credit-worthiness based on information from credit bureaus. You may request a credit score from consumer reporting agencies that create scores or distribute scores used in residential real property loans, but you will have to pay for it. In some mortgage transactions, you will receive credit score information for free from the mortgage lender.
- You have the right to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information. If you identify information in your file that is incomplete or inaccurate, and report it to the consumer reporting agency, the agency must investigate unless your dispute is frivolous. See www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore for an explanation of dispute procedures.

- Consumer reporting agencies must correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. Inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information must be removed or corrected, usually within 30 days. However, a consumer reporting agency may continue to report information it has verified as accurate.
- Consumer reporting agencies may not report outdated negative information. In most cases, a consumer reporting agency may not report negative information that is more than seven years old, or bankruptcies that are more than 10 years old.
- Access to your file is limited. A consumer reporting agency may provide information about you only to people with a valid need – usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business. The FCRA specifies those with a valid need for access.
- You must give your consent for reports to be provided to employers. A consumer reporting agency may not give out information about you to your employer, or a potential employer, without your written consent given to the employer. Written consent generally is not required in the trucking industry. For more information, go to www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.
- You may limit “prescreened” offers of credit and insurance you get based on information in your credit report. Unsolicited “prescreened” offers for credit and insurance must include a toll-free phone number you can call if you choose to remove your name and address from the lists these offers are based on. You may opt out with the nationwide credit bureaus at 1-888-5-OPTOUT (1-888-567-8688).
- The following FCRA right applies with respect to nationwide consumer reporting agencies:

CONSUMERS HAVE THE RIGHT TO OBTAIN A SECURITY FREEZE

You have a right to place a “security freeze” on your credit report, which will prohibit a consumer reporting agency from releasing information in your credit report without your express authorization. The security freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a security freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit.

As an alternative to a security freeze, you have the right to place an initial or extended fraud alert on your credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting 7 years.

A security freeze does not apply to a person or entity, or its affiliates, or collection agencies acting on behalf of the person or entity, with which you have an existing account that requests information in your credit report for the purposes of reviewing or collecting the account. Reviewing the account includes activities related to account maintenance, monitoring, credit line increases, and account upgrades and enhancements.

- You may seek damages from violators. If a consumer reporting agency, or, in some cases, a user of consumer reports or a furnisher of information to a consumer reporting agency violates the FCRA, you may be able to sue in state or federal court.
- Identity theft victims and active duty military personnel have additional rights. For more information, visit www.consumerfinance.gov/learnmore.

States may enforce the FCRA, and many states have their own consumer reporting laws. In some cases, you may have more rights under state law. For more information, contact your state or local consumer protection agency or your state Attorney General. For information about your federal rights, contact:
